

Andy Hackbarth

Award-Winning Folk Singer/Songwriter and Classical-Flamenco Guitarist

"Andy is, without question, the most versatile performer I have ever seen...He has a natural charisma on stage, a mesmerizing virtuosity on the guitar, and a voice that completely captivates people." (Susan Varner, KSPK Radio)

"...a guitar virtuoso!" (Boulder Daily Camera)

"Your heart breaks and swells several times while listening... (The Last Love Song) is a beautifully layered album musically that still manages to preserve the spirit and intimacy of one of his live performances." (Scott Southworth - The Music Row Show)

"...a high energy show, lush-yet-gritty vocals...and an ethereal writing style that is both clever and haunting." (Wet Mountain Tribune)

www.TheLastLoveSong.com

For more information, additional press and reviews, radio coverage, past and upcoming performances and promotional materials

- * Winner - National Foundation for Advancement in the Arts Competition
- * Winner - Music Teachers National Association Competition (CO, and West Region)
- * Finalist in three major international competitions: International Songwriting Competition (out of over 15,000 applicants), the Billboard Songwriting Competition and the International Acoustic Music Awards
- * Finalist - Neale Silva Competition
- * Denver Songwriter of the Year Nomination - Westword Magazine
- * Top 10 New Artist Award - Soundsugar

Andy has shared the stage with Melissa Etheridge, Lonestar, Jimmy Wayne and others and has been featured on major-market radio and television programs across the country. He performed over 200 shows in the past 16 months and recently released his third full-length album, "The Last Love Song".

Andy's performances feature a combination of upbeat original contemporary folk songs and classical/flamenco guitar selections, as well as a few unique renditions of crowd-favorite cover tunes, such as "I Walk the Line", "Can't Help Falling in Love", "Help Me Make It Through the Night", "Leaving on a Jet Plane" and others. His talent, humor, and genuine love for music continues to make him an audience favorite.

Booking: Kevin Brown, January Records Nashville
Booking@AndyHackbarth.com
(615) 283-0162